Welcome Note – CEO Office

Dear Team,

Welcome to AGRC! I'm pleased to have you as part of our team. Your role is crucial to our mission, and we value the contributions you will bring to our company.

This HR Employee Handbook is an essential resource designed to provide you with a comprehensive understanding of our policies, procedures, and workplace standards. It outlines the values we hold, the expectations we set, and the support systems we have in place to ensure a positive and respectful work environment for everyone.

I encourage you to take the time to thoroughly read through this handbook. It will equip you with the knowledge needed to navigate our company's practices and maximize the benefits, rights, and responsibilities available to you as an employee. Understanding these guidelines is vital for your success and for maintaining the collaborative and inclusive culture that we are proud of at AGRC.

We are committed to ensuring that every individual is empowered, respected, and supported. Thank you for being part of this journey with us, and I look forward to the many achievements we will accomplish together.

Warm regards,

N. Venu Gopal

CEO

Welcome Note – CISO Office

Welcome to AGRC! In today's digital age, Information and physical security is everyone's responsibility, and I'm thrilled to have each of you as a part of our team, helping to protect the integrity of our company. As your Chief Information Security Officer (CISO), I want to personally highlight the importance of safeguarding our assets—both physical and digital—and ensuring compliance with policies that protect us all.

This handbook is more than a rulebook—it's a guide to ensuring that we protect our data, assets, and each other. By following these policies, you're helping us maintain a secure, trustworthy environment where we can all thrive. Whether it's safeguarding sensitive information or adhering to privacy standards, every action you take makes a difference.

Together, we'll ensure that our company remains a fortress of security, where trust and innovation flourish.

Stay secure!

Nikhil Raj

Group CISO

Welcome Note – Senior Manager HR

I encourage you to dive in and explore. By understanding these guidelines, you're not just familiarizing yourself with the company; you're also joining us in our commitment to creating an inclusive and empowering environment.

Welcome aboard! Together, let's make AGRC a fantastic place to work.

Suman Chawla

Senior Manager - HR

Guidelines

This handbook has been prepared to inform Employees about the policies and procedures of this Company and to establish the Company's expectations.

It is not all inclusive or intended to provide strict interpretations of our policies; rather, it offers an overview of the work environment. This handbook is not a contract, expressed or implied, guaranteeing employment for any length of time and is not intended to induce an Employee to accept employment with the Company.

All Employees are expected to familiarize themselves and comply with this handbook, the Code and all applicable policies and procedures. As an employee, you are responsible for abiding by the Company's policies and regulations. Your awareness and understanding of these guidelines are necessary for your continued growth as well as the growth of our business.

In addition to the policies outlined in this handbook, the Company maintains other policies, procedures, and guidelines that may apply to your role or employment. Employees are encouraged to refer to the Company's intranet (https://adms.aithent.com/) to access and familiarize themselves with these additional resources during the course of their employment.

The Company reserves the right to revise, modify, delete, or add to all processes and practices described in this handbook at any time with or without advance notice and in the Company's sole discretion. Your continued employment after any of these policy changes indicates your agreement with these policies. If there is ever a discrepancy between the information in this handbook and the actual policies or procedures on a certain subject, the policy or process will prevail.

About AGRC

Advanced GRC (AGRC) is a technology platform that helps government agencies modernize operations, streamline regulatory compliance and strengthen oversight through data driven workflows and automated processes. AGRC delivers purpose-built solutions for licensing, inspections , case management and regulatory compliance to improve efficiency and public service outcomes.

Vision

Our vision is to be the leading provider of innovative governance, risk, and compliance solutions that enable government agencies and regulated organizations to modernize operations, strength oversight and deliver responsive , transparent public service.

Mission

Our mission is to empower government agencies and institutions with secure, scalable, and data-driven platforms that automate licensing, inspections, case management, and regulatory compliance—improving efficiency, accountability, and decision-making across regulatory lifecycles.

Values

At Advanced GRC, our values define how we work, how we collaborate, and how we serve our clients and communities. All employees are expected to uphold these principles in their daily responsibilities and professional conduct.

1. Client-First Mindset

We place our clients at the center of everything we do. Employees are expected to demonstrate responsiveness, professionalism, and a commitment to delivering solutions that meet client needs and support long-term partnerships.

2. Purpose-Driven Innovation

We encourage innovation that adds meaningful value. Employees are expected to embrace continuous improvement, leverage technology responsibly, and contribute ideas that help modernize regulatory and compliance processes.

3. Operational Excellence

We strive for accuracy, efficiency, and consistency in our work. Employees are expected to follow established processes, maintain high quality standards, and take ownership of their responsibilities to deliver reliable outcomes.

4. Security, Confidentiality & Trust

Protecting sensitive information is a shared responsibility. Employees must comply with all data security, confidentiality, and information protection policies to maintain the trust of our clients and stakeholders.

5. Commitment to Public Service

We recognize that our work supports organizations that serve the public. Employees are expected to act with accountability and professionalism, contributing to solutions that enhance transparency, compliance, and service delivery.

6. Integrity & Ethical Conduct

We conduct business with honesty, fairness, and respect. Employees are expected to adhere to all company policies, legal requirements, and ethical standards, and to speak up if they observe conduct that does not align with these principles.

7. Collaboration & Respect

We foster a respectful and inclusive work environment. Employees are expected to collaborate effectively, value diverse perspectives, and treat colleagues, clients, and partners with dignity and professionalism.

Work Practices:

Working Hours and Office Timings

AGRC follows a five-day work schedule (Monday to Friday). Office timings vary by location and work requirements.

Gurgaon Office

- Day Shift: 8:30 am to 5:30 pm (Monday to Friday)
- Night Shift: 6:30 pm to 2:30 am (Monday to Friday)
  Note: Night shift timings may vary based on Daylight Savings adjustments.

d) Personal behavior and conduct: Employees are required to undertake their duties in a professional, responsible, conscientious, and ethical manner and to act in the best interests of the AGRC. They are expected to act honestly in all their duties when dealing with clients, customers, contractors, and fellow employees. Natural justice, fairness, and equity. If an employee is required to investigate complaints against other employees or issues affecting employees, they must act consistently, promptly, and fairly and in a timely manner. The principles of natural justice must be maintained in dealing with each investigation.

e) Use of facilities and equipment: Employees should take all possible care when using AGRC's property, goods, intellectual property and services and ensure that the same are used efficiently, carefully and honestly. Unless permission has been granted by the employee's manager, AGRC resources are not to be used for private purposes.

f) Privacy and use of personal and official information: Employees have an obligation to ensure that professional information is secured against loss, misuse or unauthorized access, modification, or disclosure. Employees have a duty to maintain the confidentiality, integrity, and security of official information for which they are responsible.

g) Records management: - Employees need to be aware of their record-keeping responsibilities and are reminded that there is a legal requirement under applicable laws to adhere to proper records management practices and procedures. All employees must therefore ensure that AGRC documents are not placed in unofficial or private filing systems and must place such documents in official files. Employees must not damage, dispose of, or in any other manner interfere with official documents or files. The destruction of records may only take place in accordance with a disposal and retention schedule, duly approved by the CEO of the Company.

h) Information technology: -Employees must not access information which they are not authorized to access or use and must not allow any other person to access the same for any reason. Employees must take all reasonable precautions, including password maintenance and file protection measures to prevent unauthorized access and have an obligation to maintain the security and confidentiality of the information systems over which they have responsibility or control and that are owned or used by agreement.

i) Financial interests: Employees should avoid any financial involvement or undertaking that could directly or indirectly compromise or undermine the performance of their duties or the AGRC's objectives or activities. Financial conflict of interest may arise where an employee has a financial interest in a company or other business or is able to influence contracts or transactions between the AGRC and that business. This conflict may extend to any business undertaking in which employees have their immediate family or when the employees are acting in direct competition with AGRC's activities or interests for personal gain.

j) Acceptance of commissions, gifts, or benefits: Employees should not accept a gift, secret commission or a benefit from a person or organization outside the AGRC if the intent of the gift or the benefit is to induce the employee to waive or reduce requirements or to extend a financial or other benefit to a person or organization outside the AGRC to the detriment of the AGRC interests. As a rule, no employee should accept a gift or benefit if it could be seen as intended or likely to cause that person to perform their job in a particular way, which the person would not normally do, or deviate from the proper or usual course of duty. Employees may accept token gifts or benefits in circumstances approved by the Chief Executive Office of the Company, or a nominee appointed by the Company, if there is no possibility that the employee might be perceived to be compromised in the process. Gifts of nominal value generally used for promotional purposes by the donor, or moderate acts of hospitality may be accepted by employees.

7. Employee / Client boundaries

a) The term 'employee/client boundaries identify the importance of the trust inherent in the relationship between the employees and their clients, however, breaching of employee/client boundaries mean going outside the limits of the employee/client relationship.
b) Employees are expected to maintain proper boundaries with their clients. Employees are expected to make themselves aware of any workplace and/or program-specific policies/guidelines in this area.
c) Relatives and close friends
d) A conflict of interest may arise where an employee makes or participates in decisions affecting another person with whom they have a personal relationship (such as a relative, spouse, close friend, or personal associate).
e) In cases where such a conflict of interest may arise, employees must report to their manager. Also, wherever possible, employees should disqualify themselves from dealing with those people in such situations.
f) Alcohol consumption and substance abuse or misuse
g) Employees must ensure that the safety and health of other employees, volunteers and clients are not endangered by any misuse. AGRC expects employees to perform their jobs with skill, care, and diligence. Employees should not perform any act or omission that is likely to have a detrimental effect on their work performance and that of other employees and clients. Accordingly, employees should not be under the influence of alcohol or other substances while they are at work or at work functions.
h) Possession, use or trafficking in illegal drugs in AGRC's premises is not permitted. AGRC's premises include but are not limited to all buildings, vehicles, car parks, meeting rooms, and open spaces. Any such activity will be immediately referred to the police and AGRC may take disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment.
i) Employees must notify the manager if the taking of, or failure to take, prescribed medication is likely to affect their performance and/or affect the safety of any person at the workplace. This is to ensure workplace safety is not jeopardized and that any performance impact is properly managed. It is the responsibility of employees to follow the directions/precautions for any drugs prescribed by a health professional for individual use and/or commercially available preparations that may impact their capacity.

8. Smoking

a) Passive smoking can have impact on other employees, the community and create a poor image of AGRC, which does not promote or encourage smoking. Smoking is not permitted in AGRC owned or leased vehicles or buildings.
b) Employees may only smoke in their own time during authorized breaks as set out in the award, agreement, or employment contract and/or as authorized individually by their manager.

9. Policies & Procedures

Employees are responsible for carrying out and complying with AGRC policies and procedure and legislation. It is acknowledged that employee views, on specific matters, may differ from AGRC; however, such views must not either interfere with the performance of an employee's duty or prevent the employee from supporting AGRC's objectives.

10. Compliance with lawful instructions

Employees must comply with any lawful instruction given by any person who has authority to make or give such an instruction.

11. Bullying

Bullying is unreasonable behavior that is directed against an individual or group by another individual or group and is derived from the misuse of power over the target of the behavior. This may include verbal abuse, shouting excluding or isolating behavior deliberately withholding information vital for effective work performance giving employees impossible assignments physical abuse. Bullying is an unacceptable conduct within AGRC premises, and all reported incidents will be investigated. Whilst it is the responsibility of all employees within AGRC to ensure that premises and facilities are free from harassment, managers also have a particular and clear responsibility to meet this requirement. Managers who become aware of serious instances of bullying must immediately notify their manager or the CEO.

12. Harassment

Harassment is any type of behavior that the other person does not want and does not return offends, embarrasses, or scares them, and may be either sexual or non-sexual in nature targets them because of their race, sex, pregnancy, or other protected attribute under the law constitutes a form of bullying.

Harassment does not have to be a series of incidents or an ongoing pattern of behavior. Neither does harassment need to be intentional to attract disciplinary action. Harassment can occur in any work-related context including:

a) Social functions
b) Conferences
c) Office social gatherings
d) Business trips

Harassment and discrimination form part of a continuum of unacceptable behavior that can include sexual assault, stalking and harassing phone calls, some of which are also against criminal law, which means the police may prosecute anyone who commits such acts. All cases of sexual harassment shall be considered under the AGRC's disciplinary policy in force and any breach of the same shall invoke penalty as mentioned in the Company's disciplinary policy.

a) Occupational safety and health: AGRC is committed to providing a safe and healthy workplace for all employees and visitors; however, employees have a responsibility to make the workplace a safe and healthy place for all concerned, as far as is reasonably practical.
b) It is therefore important that employees are familiar with the standards or procedures in their specific area of work. If employees have not been advised of these standards or procedures during the induction process, they must ask their immediate manager to obtain the necessary information.
c) External employment: The employees shall not engage themselves in any employment other than their employment with AGRC in any manner beyond the business hours of AGRC. The employees shall provide full time devotion and commitment to their obligations under their employment with AGRC and shall not engage themselves in any other employment, placing them in conflict with their official duties and likely to affect their efficiency in the performance of their duties. Further, the employees shall not accept any outside payment for an activity which does not form a part of their normal work activities under the employment of AGRC.
d) Ownership of products and copyright: All products, literary, dramatic, musical, cinematographic and artistic works, computer programs, material in written or other format, discoveries, inventions and improvements in relation to such matters, together with all copyright and intellectual property created, authored, discovered, developed or produced by the employee for the purpose of, or in the course of, the employee's employment will remain the property of AGRC and will not be used by the employee other than for the purpose of AGRC's business.

e) Upon termination of employment the employee will return all correspondence, documents, data, information, equipment, and things, including copies thereof, belonging to the employer that may be in the employee's possession, custody, or control.

f) Public conduct and media contact: Employees making comments in a public forum on any matter relating to AGRC must act in a way that is in keeping with the values and protects the reputation of AGRC. Only authorized personnel may speak with the media on behalf of AGRC. Employees are not permitted to speak with media representatives without first receiving clearance from the CEO.

g) Misuse: Employees must not deliberately misuse AGRC's equipment, assets, or the services of other AGRC personnel. When using AGRC's equipment, employees are required to follow the instructions provided to avoid personal injury and/or maintenance and replacement costs. Examples of misuse include:
   - Copying computer software programs regardless of whether or not the programs are protected by copyright.
   - Use of the AGRC letterhead paper or postage when corresponding on personal or other matters not directly related to AGRC.
   - Unauthorized use of the AGRC logos.
   - Falsifying, manipulating, or destroying business records without specific authorization.
   - Using AGRC equipment for personal commercial gain.
   - Employees provided with vehicles (private or commuter use) are expected to use them in accordance with the AGRC policy and guidelines.

h) Confidentiality: Employees may have access to personal or commercial information relating to individuals, the public, or the financial or other operations of AGRC. This information is to be used for AGRC purposes only and should remain secure and confidential. It is important that the community has confidence that information acquired by AGRC's only used for the stated purposes for which it was collected. Employees must not discuss or release any unauthorized person and/or anyone outside of AGRC, any confidential or sensitive information relating to AGRC and/or its operations.

i) Breaches of the Code: AGRC's committed to the standards set out in this Code of Conduct. Where a breach of the Code has been identified by AGRC a response to the breach may result in:
   - Counselling
   - disciplinary action
   - termination of employment
   - suspension; or
   - Laying of criminal charges or civil action

j) Email: Staff may only use e-mail and web browsing for work-related purposes, and all e-mail and web access logs will be monitored for compliance with the staff position. As the organization has responsibility for its computer systems and networks, it has the right to make directions as to its use. Informing people about the personal information that is collected held and what is done with it is an important principle.

No request for correction of salaries shall be entertained later. Any employee who is deputed on an assignment abroad should also fill the online leave application for any leave taken. All consultants deployed overseas will inform HR about any leave taken during their stay overseas through email.

Performance Review Policy

Objective

The purpose of the Annual Performance Evaluation process is to promote effective communication and provide constructive feedback on job performance, identify strengths and areas for improvement, set goals for future performance, and facilitate better working relationships.

Scope

This policy applies to all employees of AGRC, except contractual staff.

Procedure

The performance appraisal is conducted annually in the month of October and is based on individual performance as defined in the employee's job profile.

Employees are encouraged to seek guidance and support from their managers and peers to improve assigned tasks. The HR Manager and Reporting Manager shall identify training needs, if any, during counselling sessions or the annual assessment.

Effective Date of Appraisal

The effective date of appraisal shall be considered as follows:

- Employees joining on or before the 15th of a month: the effective date will be the 1st of that month.

- Employees joining after the 15th of a month: the effective date will be the 1st of the following month.
- For trainees, the appraisal date shall be based on their date of confirmation.

Appraisal Process

Step 1: HR/OPM generates the list of employees due for annual appraisal for the current cycle and initiates the process.

Step 2: Appraisal forms are emailed by HR/OPM to employees, with a copy to the Reporting Manager, indicating the submission deadline. HR shall ensure that all forms are received within the stipulated timeline.

Step 3: All appraisals shall initially be completed by the immediate Reporting Manager and/or Project Lead / Department Head. Inputs may also be sought from clients, the CEO, and other stakeholders, as applicable.

Step 4: The Reporting Manager submits the completed appraisal forms with ratings and feedback to HR/OPM in soft copy by the date specified in the appraisal communication.

Step 5: HR or the Review Committee (if any) shall discuss the ratings provided by supervisors and finalize the ratings. Increment amounts shall be determined based on the Reporting Manager's recommendations, internal benchmarking, available budget, and final ratings.

Performance Rating Scale:

Performance Level	Score
Excellent	80% and above
Very Good	70% to 79%
Good	55% to 69%
Satisfactory	40% to 54%
Unsatisfactory	Below 40%

Step 6: Career planning and future work planning shall be key components of the review process. Role Level (RL) changes shall be discussed and finalized. Records of previous RL changes shall be maintained for reference, and the RL structure shall be reviewed to ensure compliance with defined periodicity. Job rotation opportunities may also be discussed and finalized.

Step 7: For declaration of increments, the OPM Manager shall schedule a meeting with the Appraiser and Appraisee to discuss feedback. Upon completion of the meeting, the OPM Manager shall communicate the increment to the employees and share the details with the Finance team.

Step 8: Increments and promotions shall be decided based on current compensation, internal benchmarking, and the following factors:

- Performance in the current role.
- Potential for future responsibilities.
- Additional skills or knowledge acquired.
- Contribution to revenue generation, including timely deliveries, process improvements, cost savings, or other significant achievements.
- Work plan for the next review period, jointly agreed upon by the employee and supervisor.
- Personal attributes such as work habits, attitude, teamwork, leadership qualities, and overall contribution to organizational success.
- Feedback from stakeholders including superiors, subordinates, peers, and customers.

AGRC management reserves the right to modify/extend/suspend this scheme/policy at any time.

Employee Referral Policy

Background:

The Employee Referral & Internal Job Transfer Policy outlines the guidelines for employees, recommending potential candidates and for employees seeking internal job transfers. The policy encourages leaders and employees to refer qualified individuals for open positions and provides a structured process for evaluating and rewarding successful referrals. It also defines the steps and criteria for employees interested in transferring to different roles or departments within the company.

The policy aims to leverage the internal talent pool, enhance employee engagement, and create a culture of professional growth and development, while ensuring fairness, transparency, and consistency in both hiring and internal movement processes.

Objective:

The objective of this policy is to establish a structured framework for employee referrals and internal job transfers within the organization. It aims to utilize the network and insights of existing employees to attract high-quality talent, streamline recruitment, and support career mobility within the company. This promotes employee development, engagement, and retention, aligning with AGRC' s long-term strategic staffing goals.

Employee Referral Process

1. The referral process begins when the Recruitment/HR team posts a job opening on the company website, job boards, noticeboards, or via email/meetings with the HR team.
2. The job description is shared along with the job posting to help employees understand the required skills and competencies.
3. Employees may refer suitable candidates by submitting their details to the HR/Recruitment team.
4. Referrals must be submitted by emailing the candidate's resume to the designated recruitment email ID.
5. The Recruitment team reviews the referred candidate's resume to assess suitability based on the job description.
6. While referring to a candidate, employees must mention:

- Employee Code
- Name
- Job Title
- Department
- Date of Joining
- Total Tenure with AGRC

7. Former employees may be referred only if they left AGRC at least one year prior to the referral.
8. The HR team will inform the referring employee if the referral has been accepted or rejected to avoid duplicate submissions.
9. The referred candidate will undergo the standard interview and selection process.
10. When the candidate is selected, the HR team will notify the referring employee.
11. The referral bonus, once due, will be added to the employee's salary as per the payout rules.
12. If multiple employees refer to the same candidate, the bonus will be awarded to the employee who submitted the referral first.

Referral Bonus Payment Rules

1) The referral bonus will be paid only after the referred employee completes three months of continuous employment with AGRC.
2) At the time of bonus disbursement, both the referring employee and the referred employee must be active employees of AGRC.
3) If an ex-employee rejoins within one year of separation, the hire will not qualify for referral bonus.
4) 50% of the bonus will be paid after the referred employee completes three months with AGRC.
5) The remaining 50% will be paid after the referred employee completes six months of continuous service.

6) In cases where multiple employees submit the same candidate's resume, the incentive will be awarded to the employee who submitted it first, based on timestamp records.

7)

Referral Bonus Structure

RL Level	Referral Bonus (INR)
RL 3 to RL 5	₹25,000
RL 6 to RL 8	₹35,000
RL 9 and above	₹50,000

ALL DECISIONS MADE BY THE MANAGEMENT ARE FINAL.

Corporate Team Lunch Policy

Objective

The purpose of this document is to promulgate / Officially announce company policy relating to the reimbursement of corporate team lunch/dinner expenses as an initiative towards employee welfare.

Corporate team lunch/dinner paves the way to improve communication in the workplace and build a bond among team members. It also provides opportunities for new recruits and introverts to interact with the team.

Applicability

This policy is applicable to all full-time, part-time, Trainee and contract staff. The policy is effective from 1st January 2023.

Guidelines to be followed:

- Once in a year team lunch / dinner to be planned by the team manager for his / her team(s)
- In case one Project team manager is managing two teams in that case manager is free to combine both the teams together for team lunch / dinner.
- In case a person is working on multiple projects, Project Managers coordinate with each other and take both teams together to avoid exceeding the available budget for a year. One such example is QA members work on multiple projects.
- The manager needs to keep HR informed as to when the team will be going for lunch or dinner, and he must specify the time for the lunch / dinner and return to work. Total budget for the year is to be distributed across months, so it's important that the managers inform HR ahead of time.
- Team lunch/dinner budget should include food costs and transportation costs only (transportation, if required).
- Bills of food and transportation charges should be submitted in accounts for reimbursement.
- Reimbursement will be paid based on actual expenses as per approved budget.
- All claims for reimbursement of expenses are to be supported by the actual and relevant bills only.
- Annual budget allocated for Team Lunch / Dinner is Rs.3,00,000/ (This is for 300 employees)- Per employee the cost would be Rs.1000/- including GST.

Note: This policy is subject to modification from time to time as may be decided by the Management.

Visitor Policy

Background

The Visitor Policy is a set of guidelines established by an organization to regulate the access and behavior of visitors within its premises. This policy outlines the procedures for visitor registration, security checks, and the responsibilities of both visitors and employees regarding safety, confidentiality, and compliance with organizational rules and regulations. The primary goal of a Visitor Policy is to maintain security, protect sensitive information, and ensure a safe and welcoming environment for all individuals while aligning with the organization's overall security and operational objectives.

Objective

The objective of the Visitor Policy is to establish clear and standardized protocols for managing visitors within an organization's premises. This policy aims to enhance security, safeguard sensitive information, and promote safety for both visitors and employees by defining visitor registration procedures, access restrictions, and behavioral expectations. Ultimately, it seeks to create a secure and well-managed environment that aligns with the organization's security and operational goals while ensuring a positive and controlled visitor experience.

Visitor Guidelines

Workplace Visitor

1) Visitors are welcome during regular working hours. If you plan to visit after hours, please obtain written authorization from HR, Administration, or management.
2) Before entering the workplace, visitors must obtain permission from the relevant manager or Administration.
3) Upon arrival, visitors should sign in at the reception, gate, or front office, providing their entry time and showing government-issued identification for verification.
4) Visitors will be issued an entry pass or badge (without a photo) at the security desk, reception, or front office upon entering the office.
5) While inside the office premises, visitors are required to always wear the issued badge and return it when leaving.
6) For safety and guidance, all visitors must be accompanied either by security personnel or office support staff during their stay within the office premises.
7) When departing the office, visitors should also sign out at the reception, gate, or front office, indicating their exit time.

Personal Visitor

Visitors coming to meet employees are kindly requested to be received in designated areas such as the visitor room, lobby, or reception area, and their visit should be brief and purpose specific. Access to other office areas is only allowed with prior authorization from the Manager of Administration. Employees are accountable for their visitors' behavior and safety. If an unauthorized person is spotted on AGRC's premises, employees should promptly inform the Manager of Administration of the necessary action.

Contractors, Service Vendors and Candidates

Contractors, suppliers, service vendors, and interview candidates are permitted access to our premises solely for their respective job-related purposes. Our Security and Admin teams are responsible for issuing badges to contractors and vendors and ensuring that they wear these badges consistently while on our premises.

The same protocol applies to interview candidates, who should be accompanied by either support staff or security personnel until they reach the designated HR representative. The HR representative is then responsible for the candidate's well-being and supervision while they are within the office premises.

Unauthorized Visitors

Our security personnel have the authority to request unauthorized visitors to vacate the premises. Visitors who engage in disruptive behavior or unlawful activities, such as hate speech or theft, will be promptly asked to leave, and legal action may be taken when warranted. Employees who encounter unauthorized visitors are encouraged to report them to either the security team or the office manager for appropriate action.

Important Note – Disciplinary Action

Employees who violate this policy may face disciplinary consequences in proportion to their violation. HR will determine how serious an employee’s offense is and take the appropriate action.

Disciplinary Guidelines and Disciplinary Appeal Policy

1.OBJECTIVES

This policy outlines the Company's approach to managing employee conduct and performance issues in a fair, consistent, and transparent manner. Mobile Usage Policy

Objective

To minimize disruptions, maintain productivity, and ensure that mobile phone usage does not affect work efficiency.

Scope

Applies to all employees of AGRC.

Guidelines

- Limit personal calls: Prolonged or frequent personal calls during working hours are discouraged as they impact productivity.
- Keep ringer silent/vibration: Employees should keep phones on silent or vibration mode to avoid disturbance.
- Use phones only for essential calls: Non-essential conversations should be avoided during work hours.
- Allow calls to go to voicemail: If unsure of the importance of an incoming call, allow voicemail to receive it.
- No mobile usage during meetings: Phones should not be used for calls, texts, browsing, social media, or gaming during meetings.

Joining Process and Procedures

Objective

To ensure a smooth, consistent, and controlled process for onboarding new employees and to maintain accurate records and documentation related to each new hire.

Procedure

Joining & Onboarding Process

1. Pre-Joining Communication

Prior to the date of joining, HR will share a welcome communication with the new employee, which may include:

- Office address and location details
- Reporting time and first-day instructions
- Contact details of the concerned HR representative

The Company may also initiate internal arrangements for system and infrastructure readiness before the joining date.

2. Joining Day Formalities

On the first day of employment:

- The employee is required to report as per the Offer Letter.
- HR will facilitate the onboarding formalities, including system access initiation and completion of mandatory joining documentation.
- The employee will be provided with necessary resources to ensure a smooth start.

- The Company may provide complimentary meals on the first working day, as per applicable shift timings and internal practices.

3. Employee Records & Personnel File

HR maintains a personnel file for every employee. This may include (as applicable):

- Offer and Appointment Letters
- Educational and professional certificates
- Identity and address proofs
- Previous employment documents
- Statutory and payroll-related records

Employees are responsible for ensuring that their personal information remains accurate and updated. Any change in address, contact details, nominee, qualifications, or other personal data must be promptly communicated to HR.

4. Forms, Declarations & Agreements

Employees are required to complete and sign mandatory forms and agreements, which may include:

- Code of Conduct
- Employment Agreement / NDA
- Information Security and Data Protection declarations
- Insurance and personal information forms
- Other statutory or organizational documents as applicable

5. Employee ID & Access

- Each employee will be assigned a unique Employee ID.
- An access card or temporary access may be issued for office entry and system usage, subject to Company policies.

6. HR Policy Orientation

HR will provide an overview of key organizational policies and procedures, including but not limited to:

- Code of Conduct
- POSH Policy
- IT & Information Security Policy
- Leave and attendance guidelines

Employees are expected to familiarize themselves with all policies shared.

7. Team Introduction & Workplace Familiarization

HR will introduce employees to their respective team and facilitate basic workplace orientation to help them integrate into the organization.

8. New Joiner Communication

The Company may announce new employees internally through official communication channels.

9. Appointment Letter

- The Appointment Letter will be issued after completion of document verification and background checks (where applicable).
- The employee is required to acknowledge and return a signed copy to HR.

10. HR Induction Program

Employees may undergo a structured HR induction covering:

- Organizational overview
- Internal systems and portals
- Compliance and governance requirements

11. System & Portal Access

Employees will be provided with access to relevant internal systems such as:

- Leave and attendance systems
- Timesheets
- Intranet or internal tools

Access is subject to role, authorization, and Company security policies.

12. Records & Documentation

All employment-related records, forms, acknowledgments, and agreements are maintained by HR in the employee's personnel file, in line with data privacy and record retention policies.

Recruitment Process

Objective

To define a clear, consistent, and transparent recruitment procedure for hiring employees.

Scope

Applicable to all recruitment activities at AGRC.

Procedure

Step 1: Technical department submits Resource Request Form (RRF) to HR. If internal resources cannot be allocated, HR begins external hiring after CEO approval.
Step 2: HR reviews RRF; clarifications are sought if required.
Step 3: Screening and shortlisting of relevant profiles.
Step 4: Preliminary HR round to assess suitability and overall fit.
Step 5: Technical Round 1 (telephonic/face-to-face).
Step 6: Technical/Project Manager Round 2 (face-to-face).
Step 7: Final round with HR (salary negotiation and fitment).
Step 8: Offer letter issuance (post CEO approval if applicable).
Step 9: HR maintains regular follow-ups with selected candidates.
Step 10: On joining, if a candidate backs out, the next shortlisted candidate is considered.

Recruitment for Non-Technical Roles

- After HR screening, candidates are interviewed by the requesting department.
- Final round with HR Head.

Sources of Recruitment

1. Employee referrals
2. Direct applicants (networking, job portals, search engines)
3. Recruitment agencies and consultants

Note: This policy is reviewed annually.

Company Culture & Engagement Highlights

AGRC is committed to fostering a professional, inclusive, and respectful workplace that supports employee engagement, collaboration, and continuous improvement. The organization promotes a work environment guided by shared values, open communication, mutual respect, and ethical conduct.

Employee engagement initiatives are designed to encourage participation, strengthen teamwork, and support overall workplace well-being, in alignment with business requirements and organizational practices.

As part of its employee engagement and continuous improvement efforts, AGRC conducts the Great Place to Work (GPTW) Survey at periodic intervals. The survey provides employees with an opportunity to share feedback on workplace practices. Participation in the survey is voluntary, and feedback is reviewed to identify opportunities for improvement.

The organization may undertake the following engagement practices:

- Team and Festive Engagement Activities: Company-wide events and festival celebrations such as Diwali, Holi, Christmas, New Year, and other regional or cultural occasions may be organized to promote inclusivity and team bonding.
- Employee Communication: Organizational updates, including new client additions, business milestones, and client appreciation, are shared through internal communication channels such as the Calypso e-Newsletter.
- Wellness and Work-Life Balance Initiatives: Wellness programs, awareness sessions, and activities aimed at supporting physical, mental, and emotional well-being may be facilitated.
- Team Building and Engagement Activities: Team building and engagement initiatives may be conducted to encourage collaboration and positive workplace interactions.
- Career Growth and Development: AGRC supports employee development by providing hands-on work experience, open discussions, and managerial guidance. Employees are encouraged to engage with their direct managers regarding performance, skill development, and career growth within an open and approachable work environment.
