

Code of Conduct Policy

Document name	Code of Conduct (COC)
Version	2.0
Owner	Senior Manager HR
Reviewer	Group CISO
Approver	CEO

CONFIDENTIAL

Table of Contents

1. Purpose 3
2. Scope 3
3. Process 3
4. Managers/Supervisors Responsibilities: 3
5. Employee's responsibilities – 4
6. Attendance and Punctuality: 5
7. Employee/client boundaries 7
8. Smoking 8
9. Policies& Procedures 9
10. Compliance with lawful instructions 9
11. Bullying 9
12. Harassment: 9
13. External employment ..... Error! Bookmark not defined.
14. Ownership of products and copyright 11
15. Public conduct and media contact: 11
16. Misuse 11
17. Confidentiality 12
18. Breaches of the Code: 12
19. Email: 13

CONFIDENTIAL

1. Purpose

The Employee Code of Conduct ("Code of Conduct") outlines standards of personal and professional conduct that all employees shall strive to always uphold and behave in an ethical and professional manner. The Code provides a basis for all employees to maintain a working environment that is productive, positive, enjoyable, safe and free from harassment and discrimination. It will also assist managers to induct employees, scope and address any circumstances that may have arisen which conflict with the stated standards and values.

2. Scope

The Employee Code of Conduct provides clear guidelines and standards for the appropriate behaviour expected of Aithent Technologies Pvt Ltd. ("Aithent" or "Company") employees.

All employees are expected to be aware of, and comply with, this Code of Conduct and its related policies.

3. Process

a. This Code of Conduct provides a framework for appropriate behaviour for all Aithent employees where they can address ethical issues, with fellow employees and management.
b. Conduct themselves towards other employees or colleagues, employee's representatives and their representatives, government authorities and clients, etc. in an appropriate manner.
c. Perform their duties and obligations in a diligent manner, fulfil the mission, goals, andobjectives of Goals101, and Practice fairness and equity.

4. Managers/Supervisors Responsibilities:

All Managers are responsible and accountable for:

a. Undertaking their duties and behaving in a manner that is consistent with the provisions of thisCode of Conduct.

b. Informing and making the employees in their teams aware of the provisions of this Code ofConduct, other relevant policies, procedures, minutes etc.

CONFIDENTIAL

c. Providing appropriate training and/or performance counselling to ensure the required standards are met.

d. Reporting any departure from the Code of Conduct by themselves or others.

e. Acting consistently and fairly in dealing with behaviour that breaches this Code of Conduct.

5. Employee's responsibilities –

All employees of Aithent shall have the following responsibilities:

a. All employees shall during their services with the Aithent devote their whole time and attention to the Company's business as entrusted to them, and they shall not engage themselves directly or indirectly in any business or service other than the Company's businessor service.

b. Information pertaining to the Company's operations shall remain secret and safeguarded by the employees. All information that comes to their knowledge by virtue of their employment withthe Company is deemed to be confidential.

c. The employees will be required to effectively carry out all duties and responsibilities assigned to them by their respective managers and/or other persons authorized by the company to assign such duties and responsibilities.

d. The employees will be required to apply and maintain the highest standards of their personal conduct and integrity and comply with all the Company's policies and procedures. The Company shall have the right, from time to time, to vary or modify any of the above terms and conditions of service, which shall be strictly applicable & must be adhered to by all the employees.

e. All acts of misconduct and indiscipline like insubordination, gross negligence, corruption, fraud, forgery, misappropriation, data sharing, etc. would warrant strong disciplinary action from the Company. Any violations as detailed above or violation of any other procedures and policies of the Company would attract action/termination as per the Company's disciplinary policy in force.

CONFIDENTIAL

6. Attendance and Punctuality:

Employees are expected to be punctual and regular in their attendance. Any non-adherence shall be dealt according to the Company's Attendance & Discipline Policy.

a. When an employee is unavoidably absent from work due to sickness or any other reason, the employee should telephonically intimate his/her concerned manager (or appropriate delegate) promptly (preferably before their normal starting time) and indicate their likely return to work. In case employee has been away from for more than 3 days then he/she should ensure a written communication via mail & request respective manager to approve his/her leaves.
b. Dress and Appearance: - Aithent is well-recognized and respected and projects a particular image to its clients. Employees must therefore ensure that their appearance is neat, clean, and appropriate for their particular area of work. A high standard of personal hygiene is always expected.
c. This Code of Conduct intends to define appropriate dress code for the employees employed in Aithent. Casual business wear is defined as: Trousers, pants, skirts, Modest shirts, Shirts, jumpers, cardigans, non-sports jackets, Denim jeans or leggings any form of sports shoes including joggers or runners) does not include: thongs, slippers or dilapidated footwear athletic wear torn or ripped clothing (even if 'designer' tears). Unsuitably revealing clothing (including backless tops or dresses, or garments that reveal the midriff) any clothing displaying offensive messages including racist.
d. Personal behaviour and conduct: Employees are required to undertake their duties in a professional, responsible, conscientious, and ethical manner and to act in the best interests of the Aithent. They are expected to act honestly in all their duties when dealing with clients, customers, contractors, and fellow employees. Natural justice, fairness, and equity. If an employee is required to investigate complaints against other employees or issues affecting employees, they must act consistently, promptly, and fairly and in a timely manner. The principles of natural justice must be maintained in dealing with each investigation.

CONFIDENTIAL

e. Use of facilities and equipment: Employees should take all possible care when using Aithent's property, goods, intellectual property and services and ensure that the same are used efficiently, carefully and honestly. Unless permission has been granted by the employee's manager, Aithent resources are not to be used for private purposes.

f. Privacy and use of personal and official information: Employees have an obligation to ensure that professional information is secured against loss, misuse or unauthorized access, modification, or disclosure. Employees have a duty to maintain the confidentiality, integrity, and security of official information for which they are responsible.

g. Records management: - Employees need to be aware of their record keeping responsibilities and are reminded that there is a legal requirement under applicable laws to adhere to proper records management practices and procedures. All employees must therefore ensure that Aithent documents are not placed in unofficial or private filing systems and must place such documents in official files. Employees must not damage, dispose of, or in any other manner, interfere with official documents or files. The destruction of records may only take place in accordance with a disposal and retention schedule, duly approved by the CEO of the Company.

h. Information technology: -Employees must not access information which they are not authorised to access or use and must not allow any other person to access the same for any reason. Employees must take all reasonable precautions, including password maintenance and file protection measures to prevent unauthorised access and have an obligation to maintain the security and confidentiality of the information systems over which they have responsibility or control and that are owned or used by agreement.

i. Financial interests: -Employees should avoid any financial involvement or undertaking that could directly or indirectly compromise or undermine the performance of their duties or the Aithent's objectives or activities. Financial conflict of interest may arise where an employee, who has a financial interest in a company or other business or is able to influence contracts or transactions between the Aithent and that business. This conflict may extend to any business undertaking in which employees have their immediate family or when the employees are acting in direct competition with the Aithent's activities or interests for personal gain.

CONFIDENTIAL

j. Acceptance of commissions, gifts, or benefits: Employees should not accept a gift, secret commission or a benefit from a person or organization outside the Aithent if the intent of the gift or the benefit is to induce the employee to waive or reduce requirements or to extend a financial or other benefit to a person or organization outside the Aithent to the detriment of the Aithent interests. As a rule, no employee should accept a gift or benefit if it could be seen as intended or likely to cause that person to: perform their job in a particular way, which the person would not normally do, or deviate from the proper or usual course of duty. Employees may accept token gifts or benefits in circumstances approved by the Chief Executive Office of the Company, or a nominee appointed by the Company, if there is no possibility that the employee might be perceived to be, compromised in the process. Gifts of a nominal value generally used for promotional purposes by the donor, or moderate acts of hospitality may be accepted by employees.

7. Employee / Client boundaries

a. The term 'employee/client boundaries' identifies the importance of the trust inherent in the relationship between the employees and their clients, however, breaching of employee/client boundaries shall mean going outside the limits of the employee/client relationship.

b. Employees are expected to maintain proper boundaries with their clients. Employees are expected to make themselves aware of any workplace and/or program-specific policies/guidelines in this area.

c. Relatives and close friends

d. A conflict of interest may arise where an employee makes or participates in decisions affecting another person with whom they have a personal relationship (such as a relative, spouse, close friend, or personal associate).

CONFIDENTIAL

e. In cases where such a conflict of interest may arise, employees must report to their manager. Also, wherever possible, employees should disqualify themselves from dealing with those persons in such situations.

f. Alcohol consumption and substance abuse or misuse

g. Employees must ensure that the safety and health of other employees, volunteers and clients are not endangered by any misuse. Aithent expects employees to perform their jobs with skill, care, and diligence. Employees should not perform any act or omission that is likely to have a detrimental effect on their work performance and that of other employeesand clients. Accordingly, employees should not be under the influence of alcohol or other substances while they are at work or at work functions.

h. Possession, use or trafficking in illegal drugs in Aithent's premises is not permitted. Aithent's premises include but are not limited to all buildings, vehicles, car parks, meeting rooms, and open spaces. Any such activity will be immediately referred to the police and Aithent may take disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment.

i. Employees must notify the manager if the taking of, or failure to take, prescribed medicationis likely to affect their performance and/or affect the safety of any person at the workplace. This is to ensure workplace safety is not jeopardized and that any performance impact is properly managed. It is the responsibility of employees to follow the directions/precautions for any drugs prescribed by a health professional for individual use and/or commercially available preparations that may impact their capacity.

8. Smoking

a. Passive smoking can have impact on other employees, the community and create a poor image of Aithent, which does not promote or encourage smoking. Smoking is not permitted in Aithent owned or leased vehicles or buildings.

b. Employees may only smoke in their own time during authorized breaks as set out in the award, agreement, or employment contract and/or as authorized individually by their manager.

CONFIDENTIAL

9. Policies & Procedures

Employees are responsible to carry out and comply with Aithent policies and procedure and legislation. It is acknowledged that employee views, on specific matters, may differ from Aithent; however, such views must not either interfere with the performance of an employee's duty or prevent the employee from supporting Aithent's objectives.

10. Compliance with lawful instructions

Employees must comply with any lawful instruction given by any person having authority to make or give such an instruction.

11. Bullying

Bullying is unreasonable behaviour that is directed against an individual or group by another individual or group and is derived from the misuse of power over the target of the behaviour. This may include verbal abuse, shouting excluding or isolating behavior deliberately withholding information vital for effective work performance giving employees impossible assignments physical abuse. Bullying is an unacceptable conduct within Aithent premises, and all reported incidents will be investigated. Whilst it is the responsibility of all employees within Aithent to ensure that premises and facilities are free from harassment, managers also have a particular and clear responsibility to meet this requirement. Managers who become aware of serious instances of bullying must immediately notify their manager or the CEO.

12. Harassment

Harassment is any type of behaviour that the other person does not want and does not return offends, embarrasses, or scares them, and may be either sexual or non-sexual in nature targets them because of their race, sex, pregnancy, or other protected attribute under the law constitutes a form of bullying.

Harassment does not have to be a series of incidents or an ongoing pattern of behaviour. Neither does harassment need to be intentional to attract disciplinary action. Harassment can occur in any work-related context including:

CONFIDENTIAL

a. Social functions
b. Conferences
c. Office social gatherings
d. Business trips

Harassment and discrimination form part of a continuum of unacceptable behaviour that can include sexual assault, stalking and harassing phone calls, some of which are also against criminal law, which means the police may prosecute anyone who commits such acts. All cases of sexual harassment shall be considered under the Aithent's disciplinary policy in force and any breach of the same shall invoke penalty as mentioned in the Company's disciplinary policy.

13. Occupational safety and health

a. Aithent is committed to providing a safe and healthy workplace for all employees and visitors; however, employees have a responsibility to make the workplace a safe and healthy place for all concerned, as far as is reasonably practical.
b. It is therefore important that employees are familiar with the standards or procedures in their specific area of work. If employees have not been advised of these standards or procedures during the induction process, they must as a matter of urgency ask their immediate manager to obtain the necessary information.

14. External employment

a. The employees shall not engage themselves in any employment other than their employment with Aithent in any manner beyond the business hours of Aithent.
b. The employees shall provide full time devotion and commitment to their obligations under their employment with Aithent and shall not engage themselves in any other employment placing them in conflict with their official duties and likely affecting their efficiency in the performance of their duties.

CONFIDENTIAL

c. Further, the employees shall not accept any outside payment for an activity which does not form a part of their normal work activities under the employment of Aithent.

15. Ownership of products and copyright

a. All products, literary, dramatic, musical, cinematographic and artistic works, computer programs, material in written or other format, discoveries, inventions and improvements in relation to such matters, together with all copyright and intellectual property created, authored, discovered, developed or produced by the employee for the purpose of, or in the course of, the employee's employment will remain the property of Aithent and will not be used by the employee other than for the purpose of Aithent's business.
b. Upon termination of employment the employee will return all correspondence, documents, data, information, equipment, and things, including copies thereof, belonging to the employer that may be in the employee's possession, custody, or control.

16. Public conduct and media contact

Employees making comments in a public forum on any matter relating to Aithent must act in a way that is in keeping with the values and protects the reputation of Aithent. Only authorized personnel may speak with the media on behalf of Aithent. Employees are not permitted to speak with media representatives without first receiving clearance from the CEO.

17. Misuse

Employees must not deliberately misuse Aithent's equipment, assets, or the services of other Aithent personnel. When using Aithent's equipment, employees are required to follow the instructions provided to avoid personal injury and/or maintenance and replacement costs. Examples of misuse include:

CONFIDENTIAL

a. Copying computer software programs regardless of whether or not the programs are protected by copyright.
b. Use of the Aithent letterhead paper or postage when corresponding on personal or other matters not directly related to Aithent.
c. Unauthorized use of the Aithent logos.
d. Falsifying, manipulating, or destroying business records without specific authorization.
e. Using Aithent equipment for personal commercial gain.
f. Employees provided with vehicles (private or commuter use) are expected to use them in accordance with the Aithent policy and guidelines.

18. Confidentiality

a. Employees may have access to personal or commercial information relating to individuals, the public, or the financial or other operations of Aithent. This information is to be used for Aithent purposes only and should remain secure and confidential. It is important that the community has confidence that information acquired by Aithent's only used for the stated purposes for which it was collected.
b. Employees must not discuss or release to any unauthorized person and/or anyone outside of Aithent, any confidential or sensitive information relating to Aithent and/or its operations.

19. Breaches of the Code

Aithent's committed to the standards set out in this Code of Conduct. Where a breach of the Code has been identified by Aithent a response to the breach may result in:

a. Counselling
b. disciplinary action
c. termination of employment
d. suspension; or
e. Laying of criminal charges or civil action

CONFIDENTIAL

20. Email

Staff may only use e-mail and web browsing for work-related purposes and that all e-mail and web access logs will be monitored for compliance with the staff position.

As the organization has responsibility for its computer systems and networks, it has the right to make directions as to its use. Informing people about the personal information that is collected held and what is done with it is an important privacy principle.

I have read this acknowledgement and do hereby demonstrate my understanding and agreement to abide by these guidelines by affixing my signature and the date below.

In case of any breach, I agree to cooperate with the investigation.

(Employee Name & Signature):

(Date): _____

CONFIDENTIAL